

Debris from this fatal avalanche on Crown Butte ranged from 5-15 feet deep and the victim was found 6 feet deep. Live recoveries when people are buried deeper than 6 feet are rare (about 4% of live recoveries are deeper than 6 feet according to the Avalanche Handbook, 3rd Ed.). The debris field extends to the trees in the background. Photo: GNFAC

Advisory Region
Cooke City
Longitude

-109.67W

Latitude

45.05N

Cooke City, 2014-03-12